

Washington, DC- Congressman Steve King (R-IA) released the following statement today announcing his two appearances at the Conservative Political Action Conference (CPAC) held at the Gaylord National Resort and Convention Center. The Congressman will moderate a panel entitled "Too Many American Wars? Should We Fight Anywhere and Can We Afford It?" on Thursday morning, with panelists Dr. Angelo Codevilla, Professor of International Relations at Boston University, Congressman Tom Cotton (AR-04), Dr. Ivan Eland, Senior Fellow, The Independent Institute, and Congressman Louie Gohmert (TX-01), and will also address the conference participants on Saturday morning. Both of the Congressman's appearances at CPAC will be on main stage in the Potomac Ballroom.

"Each year, I draw energy from the gathering of conservatives at CPAC, and I look forward to doing the same this year," said King. "Together we can be reminded of the principles that make this country great, and re-focus on stabilizing the pillars of American exceptionalism for our children and grandchildren."

Who: Congressman Steve King (R-IA)

What: Moderating Panel, Speaking at the Conservative Political Action Conference (CPAC)

When: Panel- 9:45 AM Thursday, March 14th Remarks- 9:05 AM Saturday, March 16th

Where: Gaylord National Resort and Convention Center, Potomac Ballroom